RE: Please support HB 4503 and 4504 to expand the Michigan Historic Preservation Tax Credit

Dear Representative Hoadley:

Owners of historic buildings in Michigan benefitted from the state historic preservation tax credit available from 1999-2011 when they completed restoration work on income-producing and residential properties. It was a highly successful program with each $1.00 of credit leveraging $10.56 in direct economic impact. Public Act 343 of 2020 reinstated the credit but with a $5M annual cap, far too small to meet the demand. House Bills 4503 and 4504 will correct this by raising the annual cap to $100M and making other changes to reach a wider constituency. I am writing to ask for your support.

My interest in an expanded historic preservation tax credit program extends beyond my community. Preservation work provides housing at all price-points, recycling all types of historic buildings – from schools to mills to factories. Preservation incentives help revitalize rural areas, small towns, and mid-sized communities, but also can be folded into large economic development programs in the aging cores of big cities. A preservation project provides enormous local benefits because it employs professionals, tradespeople, and suppliers who spend locally and pay local taxes.

Furthermore, preservation projects keep demolition waste out of landfills. They curb sprawl by utilizing existing infrastructure. They eliminate carbon released during both demolition and new construction. They conserve the embodied energy invested during initial construction and, with retro-fitting, can make any building energy efficient. The success of preservation keeps traditional downtowns and neighborhoods vital. In addition to attracting both young professionals and retirees – and everyone in between – these authentic, walkable places are cultural centers for their regions and heritage tourism destinations. In every case, valuable real estate is back on local and state tax rolls.

As an historic preservation architect, I know the vital importance of helping people afford to preserve their buildings. Please tell me if you will be supporting HB 4503 and 4504.

Sincerely,
